Lebanon Students Get A Lesson In Drunk Driving

Posted By: Laura Hornsby

Some Tri-State high school students got a lesson in the dangers of drinking and driving.

The national Make A Difference Save A Life tour stopped by Lebanon High School Thursday morning to give students a life-like demonstration of the dulling effects of alcohol.

Students were able to sit in a driver's seat with a 180 degree field of vision and drive over 87 miles of roadway.

They began the experience sober, but by the end, the responsiveness of the simulation's controls altered, to mimic the effects of drunk driving.

Michigan-based Edutainment takes the simulation to about 5,000 events a year.
